Set the scene for a celebration

Easter wreath £18, Yellow tree £15, Yellow oval bowl £5, Yellow wobbly chick £10, Polly's Pantry jug £18, Pink gingham hen £5, John Lewis.

Easter egg hunts, a celebration lunch and time with the family are the pleasures of the upcoming holiday, but don't forget one key element of the preparations – setting the scene at home.

"Decorating the home for Easter is now as established as the beloved egg hunt, and it doesn't need to involve spending a fortune," says Anna Sheppard, head of seasonal buying at Sainsbury's.

"You can simply display an array of colourful bottles or vases containing fresh spring flowers to create a stylish mantel display, and then add pretty pastel tableware for the perfect table setting.

Tree treat

Decorated trees aren't just for Christmas – the Scandinavian tradition of Easter trees is making its mark here. Buy a ready-made tree or simply display a handful of twigs or branches in a vase and hang with tiny egg or chick decorations.

Best buys: Yellow Easter Tree, £15, John Lewis. The Contemporary Home has two desirable trees: Gisela Graham Twig And Egg Easter Tree, £25, which comes with 10 pastel eggs, or the pretty Felt Petal Easter Tree, £20.

Set the scene

If cluttering the house with chickens and bunting isn't your style, just pay a nod to the season with subtle touches.

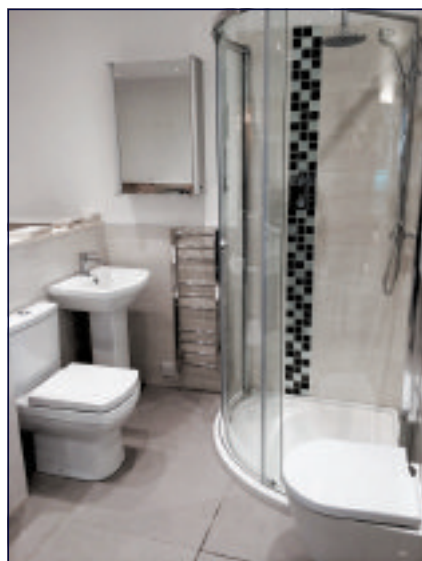

Gisela Graham Pastel Easter egg & twig wreath, £21, The Contemporary Home.

Application for graveyard on greenbelt raises fears

REPORTER
ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

A plan to create a huge multi-faith cemetery on greenbelt land has sparked fierce opposition from residents who described it as "humongous".

Reigate and Banstead Council has received a planning application to create the multi-faith, non-consecrated cemetery on 25 acres of pastureland currently grazed by horses in Croydon Lane on the outskirts of Banstead.

The applicant Anisha Amin, from Balham, has registered a company, Banstead Cemetery Ltd, and, in addition to concerns about traffic and the loss of greenbelt land, some locals are suspicious that the cemetery is actually intended for the Muslim community in London where there is a pressing need for more burial plots.

But Justin Smith, managing director of planning agent Cemetery Development Services, said rumours circulating that it was going to be a Muslim burial ground with a mosque were false and that the cemetery was an "altruistic development" for local people of all faiths and none.

Film clips a reel treat for Derby fans

REPORTER
HARDEEP MATHARU

hmatharu@
london.newsquest.co.uk

A collection of historic films of the Epsom Derby that span the past century have just been released on the web.

British Pathe has posted a series of short clips on YouTube depicting the Derby through the ages, as well as spring meetings and ladies' days at Epsom Downs Racecourse, the building of a new stand in 1926 and Lord Kitchener reviewing troops on the Downs between 1914 and 1918.

One clip shows the Queen meeting and greeting on the racecourse at the 1968 Derby while another shows suffragette Emily Davison's dramatic interruption of the 1913 race when she was hit by the King's horse Anmer.

British Pathe, one of the oldest media companies in the world, produced newsreels, cinemagazines and documentaries in the UK from 1910 to 1970.

Its founder was the Parisian Charles Pathé who pioneered the development of the moving image.

Plans for multi-faith cemetery

He said funeral directors have identified a "desperate need" for a cemetery in the Banstead area because others are full.

"It's a beautiful site that will cater for all religions.

"It is an altruistic development. The client is not profiting from this. They are providing something for the community."

Cemeteries that retain the openness of the land are generally not covered by the strict regulations governing the greenbelt.

The plans include burial plots, themed gardens linked by paths, a war memorial, water features, a service building for ceremonies and a car park.

The design statement promises to provide visitors with "an experience of beauty and tranquillity" and introduce wildflowers, trees, shrubs and pond to offset loss of habitat.

But Daniel Diodato, from

Longcroft Avenue, has been mobilising residents to oppose the plans and helped organise a meeting on Tuesday afternoon with Councillor Eddy Humphreys at Banstead United Reformed Church in Woodmansterne Lane, Banstead.

Mr Diodato said: "It's just not the right place for it. It's a quaint village on the outskirts of London. The last thing we want is something like that. It's completely out of character for a place surrounded by fields."

He also raised concerns about cars as well as funeral hearses coming and going along the already busy Croydon Lane.

A resident, who asked not to be named, from Woodmansterne Lane, said: "I'm totally against. At the moment I have a lovely view, but then it would be a three-storey chapel and the rest that comes with it. It would be humongous."

Others expressed scepticism that this is really an

Heat did not make John chicken out

John Melbourne, 33, from Tadworth, completed the London marathon dressed as a chicken in a magnificent three hours 39 minutes, just eight minutes short of the Guinness World Record for a marathon in a full body suit.

While the brilliant sunshine pushed the temperature up to 16c during the race, it was almost unbearably hot inside the suit right from the start.

Mr Melbourne is no stranger to marathons, having clocked up nearly 30 in challenging environments such as Rwanda and Jordan, plus 10 ultra marathons including 74 miles through the French Alps.

But he reckoned that Sunday's race was his most gruelling challenge to date.

He said: "It is probably the hardest thing I have done in terms of running. The heat was unbearable. I was sweating even before I set off."

So far he has raised £1,250 for the British Hen Welfare Trust, from which he has adopted six ex-commercial laying hens.

'Detectives' clean up lake

REPORTER

ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@
london.newsquest.co.uk

It may have taken more than 20 years, but experts have finally traced the source of human waste and cooking fat that has been pouring into a beautiful lake for decades.

Thames Water and the Environment Agency proudly announced this week that their "detectives" have stopped Ewell Court lake from being used as a toilet.

The organisations, dubbing themselves the "dynamic duo", surveyed 2,600 homes, conducted CCTV surveys and put orange dye into toilets to trace where the flushed water went.

Fifty-five appliances, including four toilets, were found to be mistakenly connected to the lake.

A Thames Water spokesman claimed the problem was first identified in 2011, but the Epsom Guardian was reporting on the issue back in 2002 when a £100,000 project by the council to clean the lake was thwarted by incorrectly-connected drains.

Thames Water was surveying homes then and a council spokesman claimed the problem dated back to the 1990s.

In November 2007 the pollution got so bad it killed 100 fish.

Councillor Eber Kington, who represents Ewell Court ward, said: "If they are saying they have cracked it at last and it won't happen again, that's brilliant news for Ewell Court lake and its pond life.

"It's been a long time coming. Even 20 years ago there were signs this was happening. It has been a long-standing problem."

Les Duplock, chairman of Ewell Court Residents' Association, said the pollution was completely unacceptable: "Nobody knew where it came from. It's great news that they have tracked it back and found the source."

Stephanie Ilsley, environment officer at the Environment Agency, said: "The Environment Agency is really pleased that Thames Water's hard work has helped clean up the flow of polluted water to the lake.

"Sewage and fats were regularly discharging into the water-course and reducing the water quality for the wildlife and creating an unpleasant environment for visitors to the lake."

A spokeswoman for Thames Water said: "The problem was identified in 2011, and the investigation into the misconnections has been ongoing over the past three years.

"All the misconnections identified have been fixed.

"So unless more dodgy builders get to work and drains are wrongly connected, things should be sorted out."

Children have gone head-to-head in an Easter bonnet competition in aid of a special school.

The store has organised the contest in aid of Papillon House, which helps children with autistic spectrum disorders.

Traders stay open for disabled shoppers

People with disabilities will be coming to Epsom next week for an event that aims to encourage them to shop there.

The accessibility shopping evening, on Thursday, April 24, is timed to support the launch of longer evening opening hours by some retailers in the Ashley Centre last week.

The event, involving shops in the shopping centre as well as others around the town centre, will start at 4pm, with retailers running activities, tastings and demonstrations until they close.

The event has been organised by the Epsom Traders Forum, together with national deafblind charity Sense and other voluntary organisations, which have united to form an "accessibility group" for the town.

The majority of shops in the town will be open until 5pm-5.30pm, while the Ashley Centre will be open until 8pm.

Alan Avis, of Sense, said: "One in five people have access issues due to disability, illness or age, so the accessibility of our town centre, shops and restaurants is something that really matters to a large number of people."

Representatives from charities including Action for Blind People, SeeAbility, United Response and Age Concern Epsom, will be in the Ashley Centre during the evening, giving people information about the town's accessibility.

Greenbelt setback for Gypsy families

REPORTER

ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@
london.newsquest.co.uk

Gypsy families have once again been refused planning permission to stay on a greenbelt site that has been their home for more than a decade.

It marked the latest battle in a saga involving multiple applications, enforcement orders and appeals over the site in River Lane, Leatherhead.

Frustration was voiced on both sides of the divided community during a planning meeting where permission was refused by Mole Valley District Council on April 2.

Jenny Moore, who runs community shop B@titude in Leatherhead, told the council that she had submitted a petition signed by 323 residents calling for the families to be allowed to stay.

Of the past decade, she said: "It's taken an indescribable emotional, physical and financial toll on these families as well as costing the council a hefty sum. It really is time for this to come to an end."

Sue Wood, who spoke on behalf of fellow residents in River Lane, expressed strong opposition to the plans.

Dispute: The site in River Lane

She said: "Here we are, 10 years down the line, and still no closer to resolving the situation."

A year ago, Eric Pickles, Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government, upheld Mole Valley Council's earlier decision to bar families from settling permanently in River Lane.

But he criticised the council for failing to find another site for the families and gave them leave to stay until April 2016.

Ms Wood said: "I'm amazed to be back here so soon after the ruling that this site should not be approved as a permanent gypsy site. This is an unacceptable loss of greenbelt."

But the agent for the Gypsy families, Matt Green, from Green Planning Studio, who spoke in favour of the application, said: "We feel there is a considerable increase in openness as a result of the proposal and urge you to assess this benefit to the greenbelt."

A majority of councillors voted to reject planning permission.

Officers recommended refusal on the grounds of protecting the greenbelt and countryside and lack of "material change" since Mr Pickle's decision in April 2013.

NOMINATE NOW: Do you know someone who has given their time selflessly for the benefit of the community? Then nominate them for an Epsom and Ewell volunteer award before the deadline of Monday, April 21. Call Voluntary Action Mid-Surrey on 01372 722911, visit vamidsurrey.org or email julia@vamidsurrey.org.

CHOIR BOOST: A community choir's spring concert has raised more than £660 for Leatherhead Riding for the Disabled. Soundbytes choir performed at Christ Church (United Reformed) in Epsom Road, Leatherhead, on Friday, April 4.

FLOOD RELIEF: Financial support is available to flood victims in Mole Valley thanks to a flood recovery appeal. Community Foundation for Surrey, the Citizens Advice Bureau (CAB) and the district council are working to provide support using funds raised by the foundation's Surrey Flood Recovery Appeal. Call the CAB on 01306 876806 or visit their office in Swan Mews, High Street, Leatherhead.

SPECIAL GUEST: Former international bridge player Andrew Robson shared his knowledge at a charity event at the Royal Automobile Club in Wilmerhatch Lane, Epsom. More than 100 bridge players attended the seminar, that raised £1,275 for the Royal Marsden Cancer Charity.

M25 FIRE: Firefighters were called to a coach fire on the M25 at 9.30am on Saturday morning. The fire, between junction eight at Reigate and junction nine at Leatherhead, caused tailbacks and delays.

Crime numbers fall while arrests rise

REPORTER

ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

The number of recorded crimes in Epsom and Ewell fell sharply last year while the number of arrests soared by more than a third.

The number of victims of crime fell by just over 300 and reported crimes fell by 8.7 per cent, according to the latest police figures.

At the same time the number of people arrested rose from 411 to 560.

There were about 100 fewer victims of vehicle crime, robberies fell by a quarter and there were 90 fewer cases of criminal damage in the year to April.

Epsom and Ewell Neighbourhood Inspector Craig Knight said: "I am pleased with the work police and partner agencies have done this year and overall crime is less than the previous year."

Despite a rise in antisocial behaviour in the early part of the year, the number of incidents has fallen consistently since June and the downward trend continues.

There were, however, 11 more

Commissioner: Kevin Hurley

burglaries of homes compared to the previous year.

Insp Knight said: "While that's less than one a month more than the previous year, it's still too many and this is a big priority for us moving forward. I also want to do more to ensure our town centres feel safe places to be."

"We have seen a slight rise in town centre based disorder and this again will be a priority for us, albeit the numbers are very small with a rise of just 20 offences over the whole year."

He added: "The policing budget is being challenged, but this never stops your local officers doing everything in our power to keep you safe and feeling safe in your borough."

Across Surrey, Police and Crime Commissioner Kevin Hurley said his policing plan, which stresses zero-tolerance and getting more police officers on the streets, has reaped rewards.

Mr Hurley said: "My policing plan for the past year has resulted in an 8 per cent reduction in reported crime, an 8 per cent increase in arrests and a 100 per cent increase in seizures of criminals' ill-gotten gains."

"Moreover Surrey is the only force in the country to have increased police numbers against a background of cuts. All this against prolonged periods of extensive flooding and continual criticism from Government and many other quarters."

"The chief constable and her team have done a bloody good job and I thank them for it."

Awayday crime

On the beat:
Craig Knight

A third of those arrested for crimes in Epsom and Ewell last year were from London it has been revealed.

Police statistics show that of the 560 people arrested in the borough in 2013-14 half of them, 281, came from outside the borough.

Data released in response to a Freedom of Information request showed that 161 of them came from London.

The previous year 231 of the 411 people arrested were from outside the borough, with 131 from London.

Epsom and Ewell Neighbourhood Inspector Craig Knight described the number of arrests of Londoners "This shouldn't really surprise us given our very close proximity to urban parts of London such as Sutton, Croydon and Kingston, but does begin to highlight the need for us to work closely with our Metropolitan Police colleagues."

Police and Crime Commissioner Kevin Hurley said: "Criminals do not follow local authority borders, only politicians and council/police employees are constrained by them."

Planning for gypsy sites

An all-party group of councillors was formed last week to discuss potential new sites for gypsy and traveller camps.

Epsom Council announced at the start of the year that it was reviewing where new, permanent sites could be built within Epsom and Ewell – something the Government has said it must plan for.

But in February, heated public debate was ignited after one councillor revealed that a portion of Hook Road Arena and areas of scrubland around the smart Manor Park housing development were on the list, while the majority of Epsom's councillors were unaware of the review altogether.

A shortlist of potential sites was due to go out to public consultation this spring but, following the controversy, the council announced this would now be delayed until September to allow a working group to form and to meet periodically to discuss site options.

In a report submitted as part of the council's planning policy committee meeting last week, the council said: "The group will meet on at least three occasions, with a view to discussing and agreeing a position of the issues of need, site identification criteria and potential site options."

The members of the working group are: Residents' Association councillors Michael Arthur, chairman of the planning policy committee; Neil Dallen; David Wood; Jan Mason; Clive Smitheram; Conservative Councillor James Clarke, Liberal Democrat Colin Taylor and Labour councillor Rob Geleit.

ANTIQUES VALUATION ROADSHOW COMES TO EPSOM

IN ALMOST every home in the country there is a corner where something of value lies hidden away that could be turned into cash.

That's the message organisers of the Pastcenturies Valuation Roadshow wish to impart as the company visits selected venues throughout England.

Often valuable and antique articles have been hidden away for security reasons and lie forgotten about. The good news is that many of these items have increased in value in recent years and are now sought after by collectors and dealers alike.

Pastcenturies are holding Antiques Venues throughout the Country. On a recent Roadshow an elderly gentleman had quite a surprise. He produced an 18 carat Gold pocketwatch. Although the watch was damaged beyond repair he received £720 for the Gold content alone. At the same event a lady was paid £600 for a group of World War One medals she had thought were of little value. These are common occurrences at the roadshows.

Grammar school to build comp in area?

CHIEF REPORTER

MIKE MURPHY-PYLE

mike.pyle@
london.newsquest.co.uk

A top grammar school is planning to build a comprehensive school to serve pupils from Sutton, Surrey and Croydon.

Wallington County Grammar School (WCGS) is developing plans to build a free school on the Walcountians Sports Club site in Carshalton Road near Banstead, which is already owned by the school.

Jonathan Wilden, headteacher of WCGS, said the plan for the site is to build a school, but to retain the sports club so the school can use the facilities to promote the benefits of participation in sport while allowing the public to use it in the evenings and weekends.

The scheme is one of two plans WCGS is exploring. The other is to build a new school in South Croydon to alleviate a growing school places crisis in the area. Talks have already opened between the school and Croydon Council with the aim of finding a site.

Mr Wilden said: "We're applying to the Department for Education for permission to build a free school, an 11 to 18 comprehensive school.

"It will not be an expansion of this school. It will be a non-selective school that will be totally separate but within the Wallington County Grammar School Federation.

"We are talking to Croydon because there is a worse issue regarding school places there than in Sutton.

"We are looking with Croydon [Council] to see if a site could be available.

"The other option is the Walcountians Sports Club. Because of its location, that would draw people from Clockhouse, which is a part of Sutton, as well as Surrey and Croydon.

"It would not replace the sports club. My vision is a school that promotes the importance of sport, that participation in sport will help their academic results and that learning to win and learning to lose is a part of the academic experience.

"Educationally, WCGS is one of the best grammar schools around and we have the know-how to make a fantastic comprehensive school."

Mr Wilden said he hopes the school can be built by 2017 although admitted there are many hurdles to get over before any work can start, including the fact that Walcountians Sports Club site is classed as greenbelt land, meaning development is prohibited except in special circumstances.

WCGS plans to launch a formal public consultation on the plans in May.

Damaged: The ward

Deadlinepix EP84425

Hospital closure

A community hospital ward is to be temporarily closed to repair damage worsened during the recent bad weather.

The inpatient ward with 15 beds at New Epsom and Ewell Community Hospital (Neech) in Horton Lane, Epsom, is set to close for five weeks this summer.

CSH Surrey, which runs the hospital, said patients will be temporarily accommodated at community hospitals in Leatherhead, Dorking and Molesey.

A spokeswoman said: "The flooring has come up slightly and the paint is peeling on the walls. It was brought about by the bad weather.

"If we do not do the work it would present an infection control risk, but there is not a risk at the moment."

Sally Bonyne, director of adults services at CSH Surrey, said: "The inpatient ward at Neech will be temporarily closed for a period of five weeks during June/July (exact dates still to be confirmed).

"No other services at Neech and Poplars are affected by the refurbishment, which is being managed by NHS Property Services, who own the building."

The closure is not linked to a long standing proposal to move the hospital on to the Epsom Hospital site because its buildings have been deemed not fit for purpose.

Dr Claire Fuller, clinical chair at Surrey Downs Clinical Commissioning Group, said they are looking at services at community hospitals as part of their plan for the future, but no decisions have yet been taken.

Ushering in holy week of events

Church members processed and hung palm leaf crosses in a tree to mark Palm Sunday.

After a service at Christ Church, Epsom Common, the procession made its way to the Wells Centre on the other side of the common.

The Rev Sue Curtis, associate minister at the church, said: "By the shop on the Wells, we hung crosses in the tree, bearing messages of peace and hope for Easter."

Worship at the Wells was followed by coffee and light refreshments. Christ Church on the

Dome still included in amended plans

REPORTER

ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

A school is not axing its plans for a huge sports dome beside a nature reserve, but is looking at improved pedestrian access and parking.

Nonsuch High School for Girls in Ewell Road, Cheam, confirmed last week that it intends to make some amendments to the plans it has submitted to Epsom Council for its proposed new sports facilities.

This follows a meeting with Sutton Councillor Mary Burstow, who had complained about a lack of consultation with residents and her colleague, Councillor Graham Witham.

But the school is not intending to axe or scale down its controversial, 48-foot-high, dome, insisting that lighting and dome technology, along with the planting of more trees, will minimise its light and visual impact on the surrounding area including Warren Farm – grassland and woods owned by conservation charity the Woodland Trust.

Headteacher Peter Gale said it was a productive meeting and the school would be discussing the suggestions raised with its architects over the next few weeks.

Asked whether any other alterations were being contemplated he said: "In terms of other changes – nothing major – just an ethos that we are happy to listen and adapt as we move forward."

Despite complaints that Epsom Council has failed to consult widely enough over the planning application, it emerged that it had asked Sutton Council for its views and it responded last month that it had no comment on what is being proposed.

A spokesman for Epsom

Council added: "The school is within the borough boundary of Epsom and Ewell."

"It does however border Nonsuch Park. The park while within the boundary of Epsom and Ewell is joint managed with Sutton Council. The Nonsuch Park Joint Management Committee is aware of the application."

He said that when the school amends its plans the council will consult residents by sending out new letters and putting up notices, ensuring people have ample opportunity to give their views within the three week consultation period.

Last round after 40 years delivering milk

REPORTER

NAZIA DEWJI

nazia.dewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

A Leatherhead milkman has made his last delivery after nearly 40 years of doing the rounds.

Grandfather Tony Giles, 59, has been delivering milk to doorsteps in the Kingston area since October 1973.

In fact, he only failed to deliver the milk twice in all that time – once when he broke his leg and had to be taken away in an ambulance.

Mr Giles said: "It is not without regret that I have decided to hang up my bag. I have fond memories of the years gone by when my three children used to help me, the oldest Robert not even born when I started, now 40 years old.

"I bet my grandchildren will be grateful they won't have to get out of bed to help me.

"I think that mostly the things

The white stuff: Tony Giles was a model milkman W184227

I'll miss will be my customers and work colleagues, some I have known for many years."

He added he would always remember the way the milk business had changed, with a pint of milk originally costing four-and-a-half pence when he started as an eager 18-year-old.

Mr Giles said: "It seems hard to believe now, but we had no fridges and any milk left over stayed on the milk floats all night and went out the next morning.

"As most of the milk was full cream then, you would've virtually had to shake it out of the bottle."

He added over the years he had noticed semi-skimmed milk had become all the rage.

During his career he worked for Unigate Dairies Surbiton and the Royal Arsenal Co-op in Tolworth. He did the same morning round in New Malden for 22 years.

Mr Giles said: "It went by a lot quicker than it would seem."

Trevor Sayer, Wimbledon depot manager, said: "Anthony was the model milkman. I only had the pleasure of working with him for 18 months when I joined the depot, but he gave 100 per cent to his customers at all times. He was always reliable – all that we need in a milkman and more."

Dentures? Missing Teeth? ... Have you heard about fixed teeth in a day?

Imagine no movement of dentures, no palate, and no obstructions! NO PROBLEM.....

Our guess is, if you currently wear dentures or have missing teeth you would do anything to have fixed teeth again – well you can! The Denture and Implant Clinic offers the latest revolutionary techniques which are fast becoming the new way to solve missing teeth problems!

Confidence to eat and enjoy your food!

The Denture and Implant Clinic's founder Dr Justin Stewart was the first bio-functional prosthetic system qualified dental surgeon in the UK. He continued his studies determined to find better solutions for people with missing teeth and although Dr Stewart no longer practices, the clinic offers this amazing solution 'Fixed Teeth' through his highly trained team.

Amazing Solutions for missing teeth

This amazing solution has been developed to allow implants to be placed in the upper or lower arch in the mouth (or both) and a bridge is fixed onto the implants which is secure leaving you confident in the knowledge that your teeth will not move. 'Fixed Teeth' is a fantastic solution for patients who are unhappy with their dentures or have been told they need dentures and want to avoid them. Our patients comment on how confident they feel after the procedure, knowing their teeth will not fall down or worse, fall out, during a conversation. The treatment means that patients can taste their food again...they have their palate back! The clinic receives numerous patients who were putting off having dentures and living in misery with painful teeth but are now pain free and happy, in some cases happier with their new smile than they were with their original smile!

Visit www.thedentureclinic.co.uk and read the success stories, you will be amazed!

Teeth being secured in the mouth

The clinic have a highly experienced and dedicated team, and each team member plays a part in ensuring the care the patient receives is an enjoyable experience. The Denture and Implant Clinic has its own dental laboratory on site. Patients will also be encouraged to bring in photographs of when they had their own teeth, and those photos are used during the reconstruction of the final bridge to perfectly replicate the smile that the patient once had.

Smile Advisor, Jennie Baker at The Denture and Implant Clinics says, "This really is an amazing new technique that will change people's lives. Living with 'False teeth' can be upsetting and difficult. Over the years we have encountered every conceivable problem patients endure, but this new fixed procedure allows patients to forget they ever wore dentures, leaving them free to enjoy their lives and have the confidence that we offer - a 100% guarantee with all our treatment!"

Death of man who received MBE for services to the young Scouts remember a kind and fair leader

REPORTER

ALICE FOSTER

alice.foster@london.newsquest.co.uk

A scout group has paid tribute to a "very caring" man who played a leading role in scouting for decades.

Ken Parminter started his scouting career in 1960 and went on to receive an MBE for services to young people and the Silver Wolf Award, the highest award made by the Scout Association.

He died on March 5 at the age of 94.

Neil Dallen, group leader of the 7th Epsom (Methodist) Scout Group, said he was a scout when he met Mr Parminter for the first time.

Mr Dallen said: "He was very kind, very caring and fair, but firm. He always seemed to have time for people. He was very able."

Mr Parminter, who was once a partner at Douglas and Co estate agents in Epsom, started out as 7th Epsom cub leader in 1960 and became the group's scout leader two years later.

He quickly rose through the ranks of the scouting movement,

Proud times: Ken Parminter with his MBE medal and in uniform won the Medal of Merit in 1970 and became district commissioner for Leatherhead a year later.

He later moved to Storrington and became county commissioner for West Sussex.

At the age of 65, he was made county chairman. He was awarded the Silver Acorn in 1984 and the Silver Wolf in 1989.

Bags of thanks

Please give a big thank you to the people who handed in my handbag when I left it on a trolley outside Sainsbury's supermarket the other Saturday morning.

I was so grateful to them for this, but they did not leave their details when I asked, so I could not thank them personally hence the reason for this letter to the paper.

Thank you so much indeed.

Other boroughs have managed a tax freeze, why not Epsom and Ewell?

Council uses 'misdirection' to hide poor finance skills

I am writing further to the letter by the chairman of the residents' association (RA) councillors ('Modest' increase in tax ensures services not cut, March 13).

After reading Councillor Woodbridge's letter, I believe what he is doing is what magicians call misdirection, look here while I blame with one hand, while the other hand picks the pocket.

I note his long and complicated explanation for turning down several £100,000s of Government money in the past three years and taxing local residents more instead. However, as he himself points out, most councils have been able to take the money and freeze council tax for three years now – so he himself has demonstrated that the RA party-run Epsom and Ewell Council is not as good at saving money as most.

The usual RA party lie of "...saying what his Westminster political masters have told him to" is thrown at me.

He then actually proves himself it is a lie by pointing out that Conservative councils such as Surrey and others have (much to my disappointment) also increased council tax.

So he himself proves Conservative councillors do not take orders from Westminster while accusing me of doing so.

To be totally clear, I serve the electors of Stoneleigh and the Epsom and Ewell Borough Council, not the national party, which has been very clear to me that it wants Epsom and Ewell to be at least as effective at saving money as most and hence wants a council tax freeze.

The question is whether there is a single RA councillor who actually represents the majority of Epsom and Ewell residents who think the same? Or, indeed, a single RA party branch?

If not, they clearly do not represent residents. So, who do they work for?

DARREN DALE
 Leader of the Conservative Group
 Stoneleigh Councillor

Caravans not allowed on my street

I completely agree with Sky Rivers' letter (Council should outlaw caravans on private drives, April 7)

My house, along with every other house in my estate, carries a restrictive covenant specifically preventing the parking of caravans on driveways or parking spaces.

I am sure there are many people who are ignorant of this, considering how many caravans I can see parked when I am looking from my front window.

I wonder how many houses in other areas carry these same unenforced restrictions.

Motorhomes are essentially the same, with some permanently parked in this area.

One household's two motorhomes even took up three parking spaces on the road and trailed power cables across the pavement for years before the owners were asked to stop.

So perhaps the answer is not for the council to ban caravans and motorhomes, as in many cases they already have, but to actually enforce this ban.

I have no problem with a family vehicle that will be used only for holidays, etc, but in many cases they are being used as a permanent extension to their house.

They are even used as an external playroom so they can shut their unruly children out of the house and make them the neighbours' problem.

We want bingo hall

Re: the bingo hall (We deserve a bingo hall, March 27), years ago, when TK Maxx was a cinema that was closing, we wanted a bingo hall.

We were told, "It would lower the tone of Epsom."

Look at what is in the town now.

My friends and I would welcome one and we are sure a lot of others would as the nearest is now in Sutton, which is awkward to get to if you do not drive, especially at weekends.

Prison service does a good job and cuts are necessary

The prisons budget has been slashed by 25 per cent across the board. That is big.

How would you cut a quarter off your annual budget? It could be painful, but it might bring some benefits in the long run.

So – why not cut them some slack and give them some time to turn the ship around?

And with regard to the recent article about books no longer permitted to be sent to inmates (No ban on prison books, April 3) I am an advocate for the importance of putting books into prisoners' hands.

It would be great to send books in freely, but it is a prison, and every package going in has to be checked by security.

This takes man hours. It takes staff away from the wings where they are needed to take prisoners to education, gym and other facilities.

Do not blame the minister, Chris Grayling, for all the woes, he is an excellent MP who has been given a very difficult job, and needs our support.

Blame the Chancellor perhaps.

Protect the greenbelt from traffic

Re: "Residents rally round to block plans for cemetery and chapel in greenbelt", I am very much against it.

The extra traffic would be detrimental to the village. Croydon Lane, which is already busy, would be a nightmare.

If they plan on making an exit into Woodmansterne Lane there will be many more accidents in the narrow road, which already has to accommodate farm vehicles and delivery lorries.

As far as I can see it is a way of making a great deal of money from greenbelt land, which should be maintained in its natural format.

New chapter for school

The Mayor of Epsom and Ewell, Coun Colin Taylor with other dignitaries at the official opening.

More than 200 children from a Surrey school have benefitted from a new two-classroom nursery facility which will also help their outdoor learning programme.

On Friday, April 4, the Mayor of Epsom and Ewell officially opened Ewell Castle's new nursery building – Chessington Lodge – which replaced an existing modular building to provide a new and sustainable nursery setting, ready for the September intake.

The offsite build was completed in just six weeks to minimise the impact on the school curriculum. It was designed and built by Roan Building Solutions, in partnership with BH & M Architects.

Michelle Phillips, headteacher of Ewell Castle Junior School and Nursery, says: "Roan was able to provide a bespoke solution in a timescale we did not think was possible."

"The quality of the building is outstanding and all of our 200 children are able to use the facility. The parents are delighted with the outcome."

In addition to the new nursery facility, the school also received the donation of a sustainable storytelling chair and toadstool seats along with an outdoor weather station to help with the children's science curriculum.

Matthew Goff, UK sales director at Roan, adds: "With every project we undertake, we want to leave a lasting legacy behind to stimulate the learning environment. We hope the donation will be beneficial to all the children and staff for many years to come."

Ewell Castle Nursery caters for pupils from nursery age to sixth form.

I had my first appointment at Abi Dental six months ago and have felt at ease from my first visit.

I have had my braces on for five months now and am looking forward to having them removed in the next month or so. I am very pleased with how quickly the treatment has worked.

PATIENT testimonials

I found the advert for Abi Dental after being told by my previous dentist I needed tooth extraction and my jaw broken to be realigned I was looking for other options.

They offered free consultation and were friendly and helpful they discussed everything in detail answering all my queries.

I am now into month three of the Six Month Smile Treatment and the progress is amazing. My teeth are straighter and I can already see the difference. I would highly recommend Abi Dental to anyone who is not happy with their teeth.

R Miller

I am currently coming towards the end of my Six Month Smile treatment and I am so pleased with the results.

I was very conscious of not smiling openly previously and now, even though I have the brace, I have noticed I am smiling much more confidently.

I also cannot praise Abi Dental enough I couldn't have found a more motivating and supportive dentist.

Abeer Al-Adhami, owner of Abi Dental in Sutton, prides herself on the fact hers is no ordinary dental practice. Here she explains why one of her treatments, Six Month Smiles, is proving so popular

We at Abi Dental are very pleased and proud to be Six Month Smile's providers.

This brilliant short term orthodontic (STO) system works, and it works well.

We have seen how it changes people's smiles and confidence levels time and time again. The results always brings a smile to our faces as well as our patients.

I personally enjoy carrying out this type of treatment because of the amazing results we've achieved and the feedback that we've had from our patients as to how pleased they have been with the Six Month Smiles experience.

After looking into a number of STO systems, it was this one that I thought had the best advantages and made the most sense. It is designed for adults who want to straighten front teeth. It is ideal for people who have never worn braces – perhaps because they did not like their appearance, or because of the time involved. It is also ideal for adults who did have orthodontic treatment when younger but did not wear their retainers.

It is also used to align teeth prior to any cosmetic procedures to gain a better aesthetic result.

Reasons to CHOOSE the Six Month SMILES Brace System

- Cost effective
- It takes less time, six to nine months on average
- It consists of clear brackets and a thin white wire making it discreet
- At the end of treatment, the patient also receives whitening
- Low forces and short treatment times increase comfort, safety, and hygiene

Where do people in Epsom go to enjoy themselves? Koel Mukherjee went on to the streets to find out Yvette Page, 31, is an advisor to disabled people and carers, as well as a motor-bike racer in her spare time. Her family has lived in Epsom for more than 30 years.

"Epsom is more of a pub place than somewhere to go clubbing; everyone seems to know everyone. I usually go to Wetherspoon's or the Vestry (pictured above) because there's a friendly, homely atmosphere – they don't just treat you as a customer, they chat to you."

"I love going to the Blue Mint to eat – they don't use artificial colours or preservatives."

Model trains from all across the country will be trundling into town in for a packed exhibition.

The model railway event will feature some of the finest working layouts, large and small, and host a variety of steam, diesel and electric trains in action.

There will be a Hornby Junction where children of all ages can drive the trains and a miniature railway will provide steam train rides in the car park.

Trade stands, modelling demonstrations and a refreshment lounge will also be on offer, as well as free parking on-site and street-level access to the exhibition.

Daredevils are set to perform extreme stunts using monster trucks, motorbikes and BMXs in a show arena. The Extreme Stunt Show promises to stun crowds with death-defying tricks and "mayhem" at Hook Road Arena, in Epsom, this month.

The show says: "With performances from our firm favourites who are primed and ready for take-off, the Extreme Team are ready to showcase their tricks."

"Two-wheel driving, fire stunts and just good old-fashioned chaos to take you all the way to the extreme edge."

Sir Michael Caine is expected to attend the Leatherhead Drama Festival, the largest event of its kind in the UK, which will showcase seven new plays next month, writes Koel Mukherjee.

Founded in 2004 by retired reporter and Leatherhead resident Richard Houghton, who died after the first year, the festival, now in its 11th year, is passionate about the work of talented young performers and writers, as well as that of adults.

Festival patron, Sir Michael, is expected to attend the festival's final night to present awards that recognise writing and acting in both youth (12-19) and adult (20 and over) categories, as well as a special award for an outstanding contribution to the event.

Past winners include Ashtead Players alumnus Amanda Fairbank-Hynes, who has credited her experience at the festival and the acting awards she won there with helping to kick-start her career, which has included roles in the Nick-Hornby-penned An Education and Oscar-nominated Tinker Tailor Soldier Spy.

Emily Stewart, 22, wrote several plays as a teenager growing up in Ashtead, and won the festival's youth writing award in 2006, aged 16, with her pirate-themed "maritime melodrama" The Third Expedition.

Having recently completed a creative writing degree, and with ambitions to become a comic book writer, Stewart has fond memories of her experience as a participant in the festival and is looking forward to being in the audience this year.

She highlights the competition aspect, and the encouragement and support of the organisers, as what make it an invaluable experience for young playwrights and performers, who have an unparalleled opportunity to showcase their work, receive critical feedback as well as perform in a professional setting. Being given an award by an industry legend isn't bad either.

"Meeting Michael Caine was lovely," she says. "He is a really, really nice bloke – I was really giddy going up on stage to meet him."

Festival stage manager Sally McCormack, who has been involved since the beginning, says: "People should come to these performances because live theatre is so exciting."

This year, youth and adult groups from Epsom, Ashtead and Leatherhead to Carshalton, Sevenoaks and Croydon take on reinterpretations of Antigone, the Tales of the Brothers Grimm and Sherlock Holmes, alongside new work exploring alcoholism, war and death.

As one of the longest-serving chefs on British television, Antony Worrall Thompson speaks to MELISSA SIGODO about his Easter celebrations and how he has overcome the shoplifting incident back in 2012

Melissa Sigodo: What do you look forward to the most about Easter?
Antony Worrall Thompson: Family, getting round the table. It's great. It's a bit like Christmas. I stay at home with the kids.

MS: What was your favourite Easter dish growing up?
AWT: Duck. It was a posh thing to have in those days. It was a privileged meat, shall I say. Oh, and I also like apple and potato stuffing.

MS: If you could substitute any of the ingredients of that dish, which one would it be?

AWT: Fresh vegetables (instead of frozen). My mother would always take things from the freezer and drop them in water. I would have real potatoes as well instead of instant. I still have frozen peas though, you can't beat frozen peas.

MS: Do you stick to a traditional Easter dinner with all the trimmings or have things become a bit more Heston over the years?

AWT: I do like his food, but I'm much more interested in the origins of the food, rather than what chemistry can do to it. I used to go down to the market near Battersea Rise. Battersea has a lot of great food to offer.

MS: Do you think a good drink is equally as important as the food, if so what would you choose?
AWT: I like

Italian red. I like a good Pinot. There are so many good wines around. People care about the wine more than they used to. Cocktails are also good, you could start with elderflower and cucumber. It's very popular at my restaurant.

MS: If you went egg hunting, who from your list of TV chefs would you choose to be on your team?

AWT: Brian Turner. I always think of him as my dad even though he's not that much older than me. Rick Stein, he's a great guy and, of course, Ainsley Harriot - he's a cracking guy too.

MS: How do you cope with being a celebrity?

AWT: I did my first ever Ready Steady Cook show in 1994 with Brian Turner. I think it's a really nice job. To me, celebrity is like David Beckham or Johnny Depp. I like the life I can provide for my family, but you don't want to lose the plot. You want to stay humble.

MS: You had a lot of media attention a few years ago after shoplifting from Tesco and you went on to speak openly about it on various television programmes. Did talking about it help you handle the press?

AWT: I don't know why I took a bit of coleslaw and I still don't know why I did it. I don't rape kids, I don't beat up my wife. You have to try and learn from things and use the experience to teach others. Very stupidly, I did it and it's not a major crime, I just put it behind me and try to learn from it.

MS: What dessert would you finish an Easter meal with?
Sticky toffee pudding. You have to let go - it's not always about health.

Mayor aims to increase new homes

The Mayor of London, Boris Johnson, has launched proposals for a new investment scheme designed to accelerate house building and help deliver thousands more low cost homes.

The London Housing Bank scheme would loan up to £200m to development partners to help them speed up the building of around 3,000 homes on large scale multi-phase schemes, which already have planning consent. These homes would then be let to Londoners at low cost rent, below the market rate, for a ten year period before being sold on, with the loan repaid to City Hall.

Research conducted by City Hall suggests that planning consents have been granted for around 200,000 homes in London which have not yet been built, a figure that is sometimes confused with developers land banking sites.

However around three quarters of these consents are on large, multi-stage regeneration developments of more than 500 homes which can take many years to complete. Often this is due to the funding and sales constraints.

Through the proposed London Housing Bank, the mayor would help to fast track these developments, completing them several years earlier than traditional house building methods allow, and make thousands of additional new homes available for Londoners at low cost rent.

The mayor is consulting organisations within the housing industry on the proposals. The closing date for responses is May 21.

Cash buyers drive up housing market

More homes needed to satisfy demand

Cash buyers and first time buyers (FTBs) are more active than any other buyer groups and are driving growth in both housing market transactions and prices.

That's according to new research from Hamptons International which says that during 2013 the number of cash buyers grew by a third while data from the CML shows the number of FTBs with a mortgage grew by almost a quarter.

In 2013, 350,000 properties were purchased with cash, equating to 36 per cent of the market in England and Wales, the highest number since 2007. Meanwhile, 28 per cent of the market was accounted for by FTBs with mortgages.

Johnny Morris, head of research at Hamptons International, said: "Cash buyers have been at the vanguard of the housing market recovery in recent months, with the number of cash buyers increasing at a faster rate than those purchasing with a mortgage.

"This comes at a time when the number of properties available to buy is five per cent lower than this time last year (in London this figure rises to 20 per cent)."

Hamptons International says its research highlights how the increased activity of cash and first time buyers is an important factor to the shortage of housing stock.

Mr Morris added: "The increase in numbers of first time and cash buyers without a property to sell has meant fewer homes coming to the market.

"Low levels of stock have been a factor driving rapid price increases, particularly in the south of England.

"Until we see more owners moving home, who have properties to sell as well as buy, the shortage of homes for sale is likely to continue. The result being that 2014 looks to remain, resolutely a sellers' market."

Hamptons International's research shows 70 per cent of cash buyers in 2013 weren't selling a property to fund their purchase at the point of sale.

Some cash buyers, such as downsizers bought and sold a house at the same time, which meant there was no increase in the stock of property for sale.

Others, such as second home buyers or buy-to-let investors, snap up available stock for sale, without adding to it, at least in the short term.

Why housework is such a chore

A new survey has revealed that we'll spend an average of 10 years of our life on mundane everyday tasks such as maintaining the house and car, cleaning and tidying, preparing meals, cleaning up after pets, helping kids with homework and managing household finances.

A study of 2,000 British adults conducted by OnePoll on behalf of MOLLY MAID, the professional domestic cleaning service, found that the average British adult spends 26 hours a week doing household chores.

The survey found that the most commonly despised cleaning chore around the house is cleaning the bathroom, with 45 per cent of respondents identifying this as their least favourite task.

Cleaning the kitchen was also found to be hugely unpopular as one in five (21 per cent) declared this their most hated job.

BRAZIL SUMMER 2014 CARNIVAL FOOTBALL CRAZY!

Football fans across the globe will be working themselves into a frenzy at the prospect of this summer's World Cup in Brazil.

All eyes will be on Sao Paulo on June 12 when the host nation takes on Croatia in the opening game of what promises to be an exciting and colourful competition.

Five times winners Brazil feature the likes of Neymar, David Luiz, Robinho and Willian in their ranks will, of course, be one of the favourites to win the tournament.

Their exciting brand of free-flowing football is as eye-catching as their yellow jerseys and has earned them the tag of everyone's second favourite team.

Brazil will face stiff competition from current World and European champions Spain who have won their last three major tournaments.

The Spanish will have high expectations once again this time round and kick-off their campaign with a mouth-watering encounter against the Dutch in Salvador on June 13.

The usual suspects such as Italy, Argentina, Germany,

France and Holland will harbour hopes of a shot at glory.

There are realistic expectations surrounding England's chances of making the latter stages of the competition.

Refreshingly, pundits are avoiding making rash predictions of a first World Cup win since 1966 for Roy Hodgson's team.

Instead, the England boss is likely to give some of the Premier League's bright young stars the chance to shine on the world stage.

Players like Adam Lallana and Luke Shaw of Southampton and Ross Barkley of Everton deserve their big chance after excellent seasons for their teams.

More established players such as Steven Gerrard, Joe Hart and Wayne Rooney will add a wealth of experience to the squad.

One thing is for certain, this World Cup promises to be one of the most colourful, spectacular and exciting tournaments ever.

You wouldn't expect anything less from football-mad Brazil.

BRAZIL SUMMER 2014 Trivia

Every match at the inaugural 1930 World Cup in Uruguay was played in one city, Montevideo.

The old World Cup - the Jules Rimet Trophy - went missing for seven days after it was stolen prior to the 1966 Cup in England. A dog named Pickles, being taken out for a walk by his owner in Beulah Hill, South Norwood, discovered the trophy wrapped in some newspapers at the bottom of a bush.

Australia defeated American Samoa 31-0 in 2001, the largest margin of victory ever in a World Cup qualifying game.

The legendary Alfredo di Stefano of Argentina acquired Spanish citizenship and played four World Cup qualifying matches for Spain in 1957, but the team failed to qualify for the tournament a year later in Sweden.

The USA finished third behind Uruguay and Argentina at the inaugural World Cup in 1930.

The 2014 World Cup is the fifth time the tournament has been held in a South American nation. The last time was Argentina in 1978.

The mascot for the upcoming tournament is an armadillo named Fuleco.

At the 1982 tournament in Spain, Italian goalkeeper Dino Zoff became the oldest player ever to win the World Cup. He was 40 years, 4 months and 13 days old and, as captain of the side, had the honour of lifting the Cup itself.

At the 1998 World Cup in France, Denmark's Ebbe Sand scored the fastest goal in tournament history for a substitute. Sand hit the net 16 seconds after coming on against Nigeria.

Holland have never won the World Cup despite three appearances in the final – 1974, 1978 and 2010.

Estate version of the new 308

French car maker Peugeot has released details of its new medium-size estate, the 308 SW, which is due to start hitting showrooms in June.

Hoping to build on the success of its recently launched 308 hatchback, the SW promises the same level of standard equipment, Peugeot's newfound bold approach to exterior design and wallet-friendly petrol and diesel engines.

Prices will start from £16,895 for the entry-level 110 horsepower 1.2-litre petrol model, while engine stop-start, both manual and automatic gearboxes will be offered along with selected engines dipping to 85g/km CO2.

The range comprises four trim levels.

ACTRESS AND SINGER

Heather loves her Roadster

Heather Peace is the Waterloo Road TV star who is equally at home in front of the microphone.

Heather recently announced that she was quitting her role as popular teacher Nikki Boston to concentrate on her music. Her last episode aired last month. She is now preparing to tour the UK in support of her second album, The Thin Line. Matt Westcott reports.

What was your first car?

It was a Y-reg gold BMW, totally classic shape but absolutely battered! I was given it by an agent friend of mine. The cool thing was it was previously owned by both Ray Winstone and Gary Oldman. When it was scrapped I kept the log book.

How many times did it take to pass your test?

I passed first time. I learnt really late, when I was 26 and I did an intensive two-week course in Brighton in a Corsa. I took my theory test and put in for my practical test before I'd even got in a car. I kind of knew I'd be fine and find it easy.

Who would be your ideal fantasy passenger and where would you go?

Probably Batman. We would just go in his car, the one that squeezes through tight spaces in traffic jams and goes at crazy speeds. Or James Bond, when he had the invisible car.

What is your dream car?

I've always wanted a VW Karmann Ghia. A convertible one. You can change their engines for Porsche ones. A classic car with a sports car engine. That would be awesome.

How would you describe your driving style?

I'm pretty relaxed these days. If you give yourself plenty of time it's a way more pleasurable drive. I used to drive way too fast and it's not cool. I hate bullies on the road and I make sure I don't do that to people even if I want to get past them.

What are you listening to?

I listen to the radio. Either Jazz FM or BBC Radio 6 Music depending on my mood. They are my favourite stations.

What do you drive now?

I now drive a MINI Roadster convertible. It's my second mini and I love it. The Roadster is a two-seater. Totally impractical but brilliant fun. You get the feel of a sports car but other drivers don't treat you like you're driving a sports car which is always good. It's my way of not growing up and being irresponsible!

Pot luck with potholes

A new survey has found that as many as 51 per cent of drivers reckon their local roads are in a poor state and a further 14 per cent consider them dangerous.

Nearly four in five motorists said potholes appeared to be left unrepaired for months, the poll of 2,004 drivers uncovered.

The survey, by research firm Viewsbank, also showed that those needing repairs to vehicles due to pothole damage faced an average bill of £165.

On average, drivers estimated there were four potholes in the road they live in, with tyre damage the main problem.

The results of the survey are timely, as Chancellor George Osborne announced in the recent Budget an extra £200 million would be provided to fill in potholes.

On average, drivers in south east England considered their local roads were in the worst condition, with 51 per cent rating them poor and as many as 20 per cent considering them dangerous.

Londoners seemed happiest with their local roads, with only 37 per cent reckoning them to be poor. The area where drivers considered the roads were the safest was north west England with only eight per cent deeming them dangerous.

Commenting on the survey's findings, David Black of Viewsbank, said: "It is shocking that nearly two out of three motorists are unhappy about the state of their local roads and even more worrying that six per cent of people have had an accident because of potholes."

"The Chancellor has recognised the need to spend on road repairs and has committed to increase spending but potholes are clearly still a major issue and motorists believe little is being done to solve the problem."

Garrett drags himself back for more

Epsom hot-head Rick Garrett begins a fresh assault on the pro modified class of the MSA British drag-racing championship this weekend.

Last year, in his 1941 Willys Coupe-bodied race car, powered by a 12l V8 engine, pictured, Garrett finished third.

Round one takes place from Friday at Santa Pod Raceway, near Wellingborough, as part of the Festival of Power.

For details, go to santapod.com.

Flowers is not afraid

Banstead motorhead Matt Flowers is returning to the scene of last season's major crash to kick-start a fresh assault on the Ginetta GT5 Challenge, writes Tim Ashton.

In April last year, the opening weekend of the Challenge at Oulton Park ended in disaster when the 25-year-old crashed out.

His 1.8l engine G40 car needed a complete rebuild, haemorrhaging funds that should have been spent on testing, and he would eventually end the championship in ninth spot.

This time round, he is looking to come through Saturday's opening rounds unscathed, as well as challenge the leading pack.

Flowers, who still races with Academy Motorsport, said: "I actually enjoy racing at Oulton, it's a tight and narrow track, and a real challenge."

"Last year was just unlucky, I have no fear of it happening again."

He added: "I only managed to secure my racing deal a couple of weeks ago so we've had no time for testing. But I have a year's experience at his level behind me and I am confident that will help me challenge for podiums."

"The ultimate aim is the title, but while last year's top drivers have moved up a level to the SuperCup, there will be a lot of fresh faces to take on. It is going to be a very competitive season."

Parsons' injury jinx

SPORTS EDITOR

TIM ASHTON

tim.ashton@london.newsquest.co.uk

Sutton & Epsom RFC's head coach Jeff Parsons has felt the frustration of a difficult return to London Division One South.

The side lost their final match of the league season on Saturday going down 33-30 at Dover to finish 10th in the table.

Having been promoted the season before, Parsons admitted he would have taken 10th at the beginning of the season.

However, a raft of injuries has meant 55 players have taken to the field over the season, leaving Parsons wondering what could have been.

"There have been games where we should have won, but come up short," he said.

"Maybe we have lost by a single score, or a last minute try, but we seemed to be on the wrong side week-in week-out."

"There is very little to choose between a lot of teams in the league, and any one one of the six teams above us could easily have finished where we did."

He added: "The main problem we've had is injuries. We seem to have suffered more than any team I know, I'm not sure why."

"It was a huge blow to lose our skipper [Matt Whitaker] for most of the season as he is our talisman and the first name on the teamsheet."

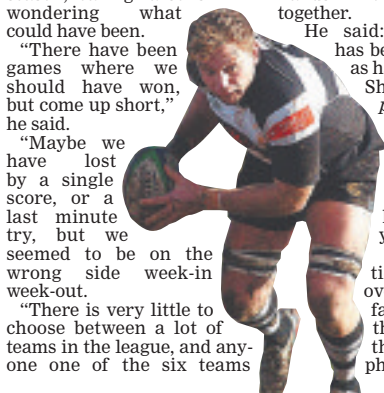

"But we've had to use 55 players over the season, we've had to dig very deep into the reserves to the extent that some guys who started the season in the fifth team, ended it in the first."

Despite his frustration, Parsons hailed the efforts of those who made the step up, as well as the experienced hands who held the side together.

He said: "James Caddy has been phenomenal, as have the stalwarts Shawn Renwick, pictured, and Mike Blakeburn. Raynyn Bruce has also been superb, you would not know he is 37 years old."

Sutton's domestic season is not over yet as they face Guildford in the semi-final of the Surrey Trophy on April 26.

On target: Leatherhead's Tom Parkinson hit one of five in last weekend's emphatic win at Crawley

Home sweet home

Leatherhead secured home advantage in the Ryman Division One South play-offs with a 5-0 win at relegated Crawley Down Gatwick.

Richard Avery bagged a brace, while Tom Parkinson, Darren Smith and Jerry Nnamani, with his first of the season, completed the rout.

Victory over Burgess Hill Town this weekend would cement second place in the table.

At the summit, and with four games remaining, champions Peacehaven & Telscombe have reached 101 points, setting a new record, beating Dover Athletic's 98 in 2008.

SPORTSbrief

SWIMMING: Epsom District Swimming Club's Gall family raced in the Kingfisher Aquathlon in Morden Park Pools on Sunday. Spencer, 12, won gold in the Tristars three boys' race with the quickest 400m swim split of the day and finished it off with a strong 3km off road run. Dylan, 10, won silver in the Tristars 2 boys' race with a blistering 200m swim and a strong 2km run. Dad Phil won bronze in the 40+ category over a 400m swim and 9km run.

RUGBY UNION: Old Walcountians have been relegated to Surrey Two despite a final day 17-15 win over Old Wimbledonians. A try from Callum Stone, plus five points off Ross Norton's boot and a penalty try saw off the Dons, but once the RFU announced on Wednesday that three clubs would be relegated, the Counts' fate was sealed. However, their season has more to run as they face Streatham-Croydon in the semi-final of the Surrey Shield on April 26. Kick-off at the Clock House is 3pm.

ATHLETICS: David Freeman was the first Tadworth AC runner to cross the finish line at the London Marathon on Sunday, finishing 194th in two hours 39 minutes 45 seconds, and placing 10th in the men's over-45 class. Also beating the three-hour mark were Alan Strachan, 571st in 2:49:56 and Dave Williamson, 1,095th in 2:57:49.

ATHLETICS: Epsom & Ewell Harriers get their Southern Athletics League Division Two South campaign under way this weekend. The competition starts at Eltham on Saturday with the first of five meetings, and culminates in Worthing on August 2.

MEMBERSHIP OPEN DAY AT HORTON PARK GOLF CLUB

Horton Park Golf Club has a refreshing approach to golf club membership and prides itself on being informal and friendly. Thousands of people have learnt to play golf at this popular centre with its driving range and excellent team of coaches and many are now members of the Club.

This forward thinking club is doing what it does best and is opening its doors for a membership open day on Saturday 26 April between 10 am and 4 pm. If you are new into golf, new into the area or just curious about the Club then this is an ideal time to come and look round. Staff and members will be on hand to talk you through membership options and to explain the many competitions and social events held at the Club. The Club has a wide variety of membership options, to suit every budget and life style. These include a 5 day membership at just £499, the newly launched flexi membership which starts at just £275 per annum and very competitive young adult and junior membership packages from as little as £100 for a year. The Club, as a consequence, has one of the highest number of members in their late teens and 20's of any Club in the area as well as a good cross section of all ages and abilities.

You can register for the open day by going to www.hortonparkgolf.com. Goodie bags worth £50 will be handed out on the day so it's definitely worth registering and coming along to see for yourself what is so good about the Club.

Richard Haygarth, owner of Horton Park Golf Club said "We have been holding open days for several years now and they are a great way of just getting people here. Once they come people usually join as they are really impressed by the Club. Our problem, like many other golf clubs, is image. We really are a friendly lot and don't stand on ceremony"

For more information on the Open day on Saturday 26 April call 0208 393 8400 or go online to www.HortonParkGolf.com

Spring cleaning made easy

Spring is in the air and it's time for that annual ritual - giving rooms a good clean and polish.

If the prospect fills you with gloom and you're tempted to ignore this chore, be aware that welcome sunshine pouring through the windows can shine a harsh light on pockets of dust, dingy paintwork and grubby surfaces.

Luckily, modern cleaning products and tools can make light, speedy work of the process, compared to the weeks our grandmothers used to take beating rugs, scrubbing and scouring and rehangng drapes.

"A top-to-bottom, thorough clean won't just make a home look more appealing, it can also boost your spirits and make you feel more energised, as rooms will feel more airy and spacious," says Simon Glanville, managing director of specialist storage company, STORE. "Use the opportunity to take a good look at spaces and, if need be, de-clutter, which isn't about throwing everything away."

"Rather, it's about losing what's useless and ugly in order to have space for things that are useful and beautiful."

Smart strategy

"To get over that mental block that prevents you actually starting, break the task into bite-sized pieces. Allocate 20 minutes each day to tackling just one area," suggests Glanville. Always start with the bedrooms and work your way down, and never tackle more than one room at a time, otherwise you'll get overwhelmed."

Green goddess

If you're concerned about the ozone layer and don't want to use chemical-laden cleaning products, there are plenty of ranges to gladden your green heart.

"Scrutinise cleaning product labels like you would food labels," says Eric Ryan, co-founder at eco-friendly cleaning products company, Method.

"You wouldn't want toxic ingredients in your food, so don't inadvertently put them on food prep surfaces by using chemical cleaners. Our products are as easy on the eye as they are on the nose, and are 100 per cent vegan-friendly and paraben-free."

Hidden horrors

Dust mites love to lurk in duvets and carpets, and these can cause problems for those with allergies, says David Begley, cleaner at Johnson Cleaners.

"Often, duvets are overlooked but they should really be cleaned twice a year," he advises.

"Most domestic washing machines are too small to clean a duvet effectively and professional laundering is more likely to kill off dust mites and the allergens produced by them. This is particularly important for people who suffer from asthma or other respiratory ailments."

People shed enough skin each day to feed one million dust mites, so regularly vacuum your mattress, bed and headboard.

Curtains need cleaning at least once every six months, to prolong their life and keep them looking as good as new, he says. If washing at home, iron while still damp and don't forget to release the pleats, as they can harbour dust.

Top tip: Carpets accumulate a lot of dust, dirt and even fungi over time, all of which are unsightly, unhygienic and can be potential health hazards. Up to 80% of carpet dirt is loose and can be removed with regular vacuuming. Make it a rule that people remove shoes at the front door so you avoid dirt being walked in.
